

Solution:

Increase in liabilities often stems from the increase in obligations to pay, which means that cash was not involved in the transactions, so they contribute to increase in assets while keeping the cash same. So, we need to increase it in indirect method.

Increase in non-cash assets is often done via the use of cash to convert them. This means that we need to decrease it in indirect method.