Solution:

American restaurant would have used net income (loss) instead of using surplus or deficit explicitly. Moreover, the restaurant would have demonstrated total sales & total expenses as two different sections only and produce the net income.